Prime Minister of Britain dealt directly with the ambassador Submits Proposal for Augmenting of German Military Strength.

By P. I. LIPSEY JR. GENEVA, Switzerland, March 16. (P)—With a boldness and fervor which stirred the weary conference to fresh life, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, of Great Britain, today submitted to the world disarmament conference a new scheme for a disarmament treaty which would involve substantial reduction of the fighting strength of France and other armed powers, and permit Germany and her former allies to augrient considerably their military forces.

To counter-balance this proposed concession on the part of the armed powers, he advocated an agreement for a consultative pact under the terms of and by the signatories to the Kellogg anti-war treaty.

Immediately after defeat of, his measure the speaker made a brief address to the lower branch of the assembly, in which he said that while the sales tax was not offered with the idea of "building it up" into a gubernatorial campaign issue, it might become an issue in a future state campaign.

The British proposals obviously will require deep study by France and the other great powers, and the conference decided to defer; neral discussion until next Thursday.

Mr. MacDonald explained at the outset that contributions to peace must be made by both the armed munarmed nations, and he appealed directly to France and Germany to abandon their fear and to confidence in each other.

Donaid voted with the vice chairman.

Chairman Perry's dissent said:

I am unable to agree to a postponement of the hearing on this case. This question has been more or less of coutinuous consideration, in first one form and then another, for the past six montas. On February 14, 1933, I offered the same order to slow cause on March 20, that I offered on October 12, 1932. The matter was woted down in October on date referred to, but was unanimously agreed to on February 14 and assigned for hearing March 20, next Monday.

The petition for a postponement of the case was filed by Charles Clark, attorney, with the Southern Railway, Washington, D. C., on behalf of all Georgia lines. His grounds for postponement are based on certain pending petitions in other jurisdictions in which he is of counsel, and particularly a case before the interstate commerce commission on March 20, involving reparations approximating $200,000. Considering some of the engagements of counsel for the railroads being before superior jurisdictions, the grounds might be taken more seriously if it were not for the fact that the carriers involved in this case have local attorneys of outstanding ability and, in addition to this, the Southern Railway has several lawyers of recognized ability. Indeed, it is only in the recent past that Mr. Clark has appeared before this commission in matters involving railroad rates, Judge Arthur G. Powell. Sanders McDanlel and Robert Alston represented the railroads and are lawyers of outstanding ability. My reasons for opposing a postponement of this case are two-fold: First, the public have arranged their affairs to be present here on March 20 and it is not known that they can arrange to be here on April 25. Second. well in advance of April 25 the L. & N. railroad, the N. Q. & St. L. railway, the Atlanta & West Point railroad, and Georgia & Florida railroad will have in effect reduced passenger rates.

I do not believe the railroad, who he be nonewellenced to have their case presented by one of several other attor

HUGE SUM IN GOLD RETURNS TO BANKS

$327,238,000 in Gleaming Coins Turned Back by People in Week.

By RICHARD L. GRIDLEY. WASHINGTON, March 17 .- (Friday)—(UP)—Americans turned back $327,238,000 of gold to the banks this week as the administration began its rehabilitation of the country's banking

The weekly statement of the fed-The weekly statement of the federal reserve bank made public early this morning, showed that the central banks of the country regained more than half of the $575,162,000 in gold reserves which they had lost since January 16.

This week's gain in gold reserves of the federal reserve system added that much more security to the outstanding notes of the various reserve banks, which must be backed by at least 40 per cent of gold.

Further improvement in the banking situation was seen in the decline of $259,000,000 in money in circulation during the past week, indicating the public was gradually redepositing its money in the banks.

Less demand for reserve bank credit also was reported as demands on

> for making really lovely cakes and delectable biscuits and muffins . . . don't you think she is foolish to risk it—just for the sake of saving a tiny fraction of the cost of her baking when she buys baking powder? For, of course - economy at the store is only a small part of true economy. Calumet's glorious results give you satisfaction that can't be measured in pennies.

It's a joy to know when you slip your pans in the oven that Calumet's scien-tifically controlled Double-Action will protect your baking. Because, you know, it acts twice. The first action begins in the mixing bowl, but the second is held in reserve to act in the heat of the oven, and that's what holds your batter or dough so high and light all the time it's baking.

2 cups sifted Swans
Down Cake Flour
2 teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder
1 teaspoon vanilla
Sift flour once, measure, add baking gowder and aalt, and sift together three times. Add sugar gradually to eggs, and beat well. Add flour, alternately with cream, a small amount at a time.
Beat after each addition until smooth Add vanilla. Bake in greased pan, 8 x 8 x 2 inches, in moderate oven (350° F.) 50 minutes. Spread chocolate frosting on top and sides of cake.

Then, too, Calumet gives you another true economy: you use less, because Calumet goes further. Only one teaspoon to a cup of sifted flour—that's the thrifty standard proportion with Calumet.

Try Calumet in this delicious Cream Loaf Cake. Then you'll see why reasonably-priced Calumet is the best baking powder value! Calumet is a product of March 24 for the murder of his wife in 1929, was granted a 30-day respite

Thursday by Governor Eugene Talmadge. Attorneys Frank A. Bowers and Len B. Guillebean told the governor they needed additional time to present new evidence and recommendations to the state prison commission Thursday by Governor Eugene Talcommutation of the death sentence.

Aiken will not be executed for 60 days, it was said, regardless of the final decision as it will be necessary to re-sentence him if the plea for clements of the commutation of the death sentence.

Because it's selected soft wheat,

You'LL like this flour better because it is better. Ballard's Obelisk Flour is made from the choice plump grains of selected soft wheat. This superior grainingredient brings new whiteness and tenderness to bakings. It makes breads and biscuits lighter and fluffier - cakes perfect in texture, pastries flakier. It requires less shortening, less kneading. And keeps bakings fresh longer! Altogether an all-round flour that can't be beat, at any price. Obelisk has been the standard of the South for over 50 years. Ask for it at your grocer's. Look for the Obelisk trade-mark on every package.

AFFAIRS OF COUNTY

Matthews, Reeves Criticized; Management of Convicts Hit in Presentments.

Caustic criticism of the office of County Commissioner C. A. Matthews and of Deputy Warden J. T. Reeves, the latter coupled with a recommendation that Reeves be dismissed, and urging the vital need for creation of a special polic committee of five to direct law enforcement in DeKalb, are high spots in the presentments re-turned by the DeKalb county grand jury Thursday afternoon.

The report came at the conclusion

The report came at the conclusion of a searching two-week probe of conditions in DeKalb county which had their first official airing in a magistrate's court on a possessory warrant hearing against former Chief of Police A. TERRELL DEATH CRASH

BEFORE JURY TODAY Fulton grand jury today will probe the fatal automobile crash on Febru-ary 26 at Central avenue and Mitchell street, which resulted in the death of Fire Chief John Terrell. A bill charging involuntary manslaughter was drawn Thursday in the office of the solicitor against Garfield Towers, a pegro, and will be submitted to the grand jury for consideration.

The bill alleges that the negro was not observing the traffic rule that all traffic must pull to the curb or halt at intersections and give the right of way to ambulances, fire apparatus, or police emergency cars. It alleges further -that Towers was speeding. The crash occurred when Chief Terrell was answering a false alarm.

At that time the president has said he will seek a worldwide wheat production curtailment agreement.
The average prices of farm products during the pre-war period, 1909-1914, is set as the goal of the program. The secretary of agriculture would be emprocessors' tax equal to the difference between the current average farm price of the commodity and the "fair exchange value"—which is defined as

The secretary also would be auto apply processing taxes on commodities competing with those which the program seeks to reach. The bill specifie that competitive products shall include rayon, silk, linea and oleomargarine.

Exporters of products which have een taxed under the plan are to be paid refunds equal to the tax, including exports to the Americans posses-sions, the Philippine Islands, Virgin islands, American Samoa and Guam. Imports from these will be subject to compensatory duties.

Secretary Wallace said the proposed trade agreements with packers and other processors would be exempt from provisions of the anti-trust laws. It is his aim to accomplish the pur-pose of the act wherever possible by agreements with processors and producers and to use his authority to license, regulate and levy the processors' tax only in case of necessity.

"It will serve as a club," he said. In the case of cash crops, the rentprimarily upon reduction in acreage of the particular crop. Wallace would also have power to rent land in large tracts in selected regions or to allot acreages to states and counties to give producers an equal poportunity to retire land and receive rental.

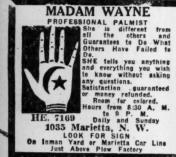

The secretary would be directed to buy cotton holdings of the farm board and to acquire title to cotton on which government loans of any sort have been made. Purchase funds would be supplied by the Reconstruction Cor-

Then the secretary would contract the growers of cotton, selling to each an amount equivalent to the ex-tent of the reduction in his produc-tion. The reductions would have to be at least 30 per cent.

To producers so agreeing, the sec-etary would deliver an option con-act. The producers would have the right under this contract to buy the cotton at the average price paid by the secretary at any time before Jan-uary 1, next. In no case, however, would the producer be held responsible for financial loss incurred in the hold-ing of the cotton or for carrying curtailed production succeeds in boosting the domestic price level.

Wallace said the percentage of the retail price of most of the commodities which now goes to the farmer is so small that the addition of the tax will have "only a very slight effect on the retail price," and that the effect of the taxes will not be burdensome

"By increasing funds available in rural communities and thus increas-ing the assets behind the rural banking structure and increasing the pur sing power of farmers for indus-l products it is expected that there will result an increase in city indus-trial activity," the secretary said. "As this develops the increased activity will eventually provide city workers increased incomes far greater than the relatively small increase in their st of living.". Wallace said that the leasing and other administrative features of the plan would be lodged in local control committees so far as possible. He is authorized to hire assistants he may need with a proviso that no more than ten of them may receive salaries in exof $7,500 annually.

He would have the right to appoint state and local committees and co-operative associations of producers to act as his agents. All administrative expense would be paid out of proceeds the special taxes provided by the Foodstuffs used by producers and their families and by unemployment relief organizations would not be subect to the tax. The right to adjust disadvantages in competition from other products which escape the tax also would be given. The administration's plan was introduced in the senate late today but only after Chairman Smith, democrat, of South Carolina, of the agriculture committee, had experienced some diffi-culty in obtaining the unanimous conent required to do so.

ors Porch, republican, Idaho, and Sheppard, democrat, Texas, long ardent defenders of the dry laws, led the attack on the constitutionality of the measure.

Borah asserted the saloon "demoralized everything it touched and the ingenuity of man has never conceived a law that could control it." a tax is imposed by this act, or to hold for such exportation any article processed wholly or in chief value therefrom.

He said 3.2 per cent beer was what the brewers themselves had demanded and argued it was stronger than the beer sold in other countries. The mild-mannered Sheppard, who sponsored the eighteenth amendment said it would bring "untold waste and ruin to this republic;" and Borah warned it would not prevent return of the saloon, which he branded as "the most hideous institution with which civilized society ever had to deal." Senator Tydings, democrat, Maryland, replied that the eighteenth amendment did not mention "intoxicating beverages" and only prohibited "intoxicating liquors," which he con-tended did not include beer and wine. The bill was placed before the senate by Chairman Harrison, of the finance committee, at noon. In a brief speech explaining the measure, the Mississippian predicted it would yield revenue of from $125,000,000 to $150,-

Before the debate began, without discussion or a record vote, the sen-ate ratified the committee's action in-$600,000,000 a Year.

Sheppard said consumers of beer would pay $800,000,000 a year for the first two years, of which $660,-200,000 would go to the brewers and $200,000,000 to the government.

"What a desperate and tragic form of taxation," he commented.

Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, contended the chief effect of beer was to make the drinker go to sleep, adding "I never heard of a murder being committed on beer."

"The kind of beer that contains 3.2 per cent of alcohol," he said, "does not often inspire men to go out and commit crime. At the worst, according to my observation, it inspires them to go to sleep. I do not believe that is what the constitutional amendment was aimed at."

Two Defend Measure. Senators Walsh, democrat, Massa chusetts, and Tydings, democrat, Maryland, led the defense of the measure, with the Marylander asserting

"In my judgment, within 30 days after this bill is passed, it will be after this bill is passed, it will be demonstrated to the country that 3 05

SALES TAX LOSES IN GEORGIA HOUSE

"But right now I have no intention of running next year." The sales tax proposal went down to defeat atter an argument which consumed all of the afternoon session and most of the evening session. Thwarted in their efforts to get a general sales tax bill out of the ways and means con mittee. Nearlest Rivers and means committee, Speaker Rivers and his co-sponsors of the plan brought the proposal to the floor as an amendment to the general tax act which was being hurriedly revised and sent to the senate. Though there was some doubt as to the constitutionality of the move the sponsors were confi-dent that should they have got it passed it would have been upheld by the supreme court.

Defeat of the plan in the house appeared to be the only way of stopping the sales tax as it appeared that a majority of members of the senate fawored it and though Governor Tal-madge had criticized the bill he had not definitely said he would not ap-prove it if it had been presented to him.

Factional lines broke wide as the ouse engaged in the long and bitter struggle over the sales levy.
Leading the fight for the measure were Speaker Rivers and his opponent for the speakership, Representative Ernest M. Appearing dramatically before the house after he had turned the gavel over to Representative Harris, vice chairman of his rules committee and also a leading sales tax advocate, Speaker-Rivers made a long and emphatic plea for the levy, declaring it was the only remaining way of res-toring the state's credit and paying off past due obligations as well as

Tax Heatedly Opposed.

Representative B. Y. Dickey, of Gordon county, and Representative Wilmer Lanier, of Richmond county, both took the floor to oppose adoption of the measure, the former leading a personal attack on Speaker Rivers, whom he charged with being insincere in his advocacy of the sales tax. Lanier charged that the measure tax. Lanier charged that the measure would mean death to the general tax act if approved as an amendment as he said he did not believe 103 members of the house would vote for the act if the sales tax amendment is in-cluded. A simple majority would make the amendment a part of the general act.

Representative Eckford said he was opposed to the measure because it worked a hardship on the poorer class of people, asserting that they were able to exist now only by virtue of the fact that they did not have to pay the same high taxes as do those ealthier.

Representative J. J. Flynt, of Spalding, spoke in behalf of the measure, declaring that he did not seen any other way for the state to pay off its appropriations. Representative Shelby Myrick joined in the opposition by saying that he felt the people of Georgia, nar-ticularly those of his section around Savannah, are overwhelmingly opposed to it.

Sisk, Terrell and Lovett. Sims, chairman of the appropriations and of paying the senate that "there is not one chance in a thousand of paying the appropriations, and I do not propose to pass on to the governor the responsibility for shaping this bill to meet the revenue. That is our duty."

Senator Sisk charged that the "bill violates the budget law, the recommentitions of the budget commission, and the economic law, and I do not believe any material portion of it will be paid." Senator Terrell said: "I know that you cannot spend more than a specific to the people of America in regard to the panking situation throughout the nation.

The senate raised the common school appropriation from $4,500,000 as set by the house to $5,000,000. An effort to divert $3,000,000 of the gasoline tax revenue from the highway department to the schools was defeated.

Opposes Cut for University.

Senator Hugh Carithers pointed out that the board of regents voluntarily asked for a reduction of $400.000 as compared with the 1932-1933 appropriations, and said that they have placed in effect all possible economies. He added that "the chairman of the board of regents informs me that if the university system is cut to $1,000,000 they will be able to operate only six schools where we now operate 23."

Judge Pottle told the senate that "it will be the poorest policy, if we are to maintain the system, to kill higher education by not appropriating enough money for it." He begged the senate "not to destroy the system by paring it down to where it cannot operate efficiently."

Senator Gail said that the average reductions in salaries of the university system has been 20 per cent, with some cuts ranging as high as 49 per cent, and that reductions in 1933-1934 will be greater. The per capita cost has been reduced by the regents in the sum of $73, with attendance reduced only 1.5 per cent, Dr. Cail said.

Others speaking for the university system included Senators Cloud, Colson, Tuten, Sisk, Cason, Goldin and Howard.

New Bus Weights Ordered in Florida

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., March 16. (P)—The Florida railroad commission today announced new regulations on maximum gross weight limits lawfuly allowed on all classes of motor vecles operating under the jurisdiction the commission.

of the commission.

The following limits were set:
Common carriers, 20,000 pounds plus 10 per cent overweight allowance, making 22,000 pounds (same as previously).

Private contract carriers and "for hire" carriers, 20,000 pounds. (The hire" carriers, 20,000 pounds. (The limit was 16,000 pounds until upset by the court ruling.) The commission's order said no single unit in any class of motor vehicle under its jurisdiction may lawfully carry more than 12,000 pounds of pay load. The limits set include the

"Dear Dr. Myers: We must have some advice. We have a three-yearand-seven-month-old boy in the family who has us all worried by his tactics in getting what he wants. A few examples are: He pointed out something down the street, and while talking about it hard as he could to get attention, reached into the breast pocket of the boy he was talking to and took some paper caps. Another time, he told a little boy that he was going to get his playhouse. The little boy, who was riding his own tricycle, got off to go to his playhouse and my boy got on the tricycle and rode off. A last example: Last night we asked where the tricycle was, and he said a boy had taken it away. He always is saying something that isn't true, so we had planned to tell him that we would play that it was that way; so when it we said that to him, he immediately replied, 'No, really he took it.'

Today, of course, there are a good many women who know how to garb themselves tastefully and at-tractively. But few of them still actually know how to use perfume to the greatest advantage. The ancient Greeks, for instance, literally bathed

By perfuming the hair, I don't mean that a woman should pour a bottle of perfume over her head. In the first place, if this were done, the second place, the alcohol in the perfume would tend to prove far too drying to the hair and scalp. There are a number of different ways in which the hair can be pleasingly scented. In the first method, the hair should be shampooed and the hair should be shampooed and this way, the rinse does not prove too drying, and the hair does not become too strongly perfumed.

Another way of perfuming the hair is through the use of an atomizer. After the hair has been shampooed it should be thoroughly dried and then sprayed lightly with perfume. Or the hair brush may be sprayed with perfume and the hair then brushed with it. A third way of perfuming the hair is by scenting the linings of hats, or by having a thin silk sachet bag attached to the crown of each lining.

Jigarettes, like Toods _

That's the part Turkish Tobaccos play in making Chesterfields Taste Better

CMOKERS notice a certain "touch" in Chesterfields that comes from having just enough Turkish tobacco in them . . . a spicy, aromatic flavor that's much the same to a cigarette as seasoning is to food.

For only by blending and cross-blending the right amounts of mild Domestic tobaccos with the right amount of Turkish can we get the flavor and aroma that Chesterfield smokers enjoy.

Next time, ask for "The Cigarette that Satisfies"... you'll get Chesterfields, with Milder, Better Taste.

Important Notice to Cooking School Visitors

Miss Claire Andree and Mrs. Madeline Day selected the Ansley Hotel as their home during their conduct of The Constitution's Cooking School.

Their selection was due to the assurance of Atlanta friends that at the Ansley they would have not only the best food, but the most comfortable rooms and superior service.

Now is a good time for you to visit the newly decorated Coffee Shoppe, where luncheons are served for as low as 35c, dinners as low as 75c. Open all night, with the famous Oyster Bar always at your service with excellent sea food. Music and dancing in the Rathskeller every evening-no cover charge.

:-: Folly Island

By Wallace Irwin

Bart Burgess is maroued in a catboat on Peconic bay, 50 miles from his Long Island home in Wyattville, His companion, Ingalls Frederick Warren, spoiled child of a new made fortune, known as "Nosey Ingy," rows to town and sends Bart help and taxies home. A girl in a canoe invites Bart over to her family's island. Bart learns that she is one of the Bayleys, who have lived on the island 15 years, but don't mix. The father travels, He invites the girl, Alice, to visit him in Wyattville. Less than a week later Trevor Burgess, Hart's father, died suddenly from a heart attack. Bart is left with the care of his invalid mother. The family lawyer gives Bart a letter left for him by his father, in which be confesses to being: bigamist. The Bayleys of Folly island are his second family. They know him as Matthew Bayley. He asks Bart, for his mother's sake, to guard the secret, and leaves a fortune to provide for the Rayleys. Rat calls on Mrs. Bayley, posing as a lawyer, and finds her a lovely woman, not the harridan he expected. He returns two weeks later with the legacy. Bart is happy to learn from her mother that Alice isn't Matthew Bayley's daughter. But to keep her from visiting his home and seeing his father's pictures is now a problem. He resolves to stay away from Folly Island. He sees a lot of Lora Sackett, a distant relative and recent divorcee. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"You'd be surprised," said Lora Sackett. "Just watch me churn." She was agitating the silver plunger up and down in the striped glass tube; the mixture of ice and liquor and flavored water foamed and danced, and her eyes were big, black stars. "What's Viola done with the cocktail glasses?"

"Fool!" she cried when Bart was melting ice cubes under the faucet. "Don't splash yourself like that. All over your perfectly adorable shirt front. What'll your mother say when you get home? She'll think we've been playing with the hose again."

There was something motherly about her, dabbing a napkin on his starched white bosom. Her yellow hair was close to his face, and its artful sweetness pleased him. Her taking care of him revealed a certain softness in Lora. The frivolous service napkin, passing lightly over his black pearl studs, seemed to salve a wound deep within him.

"I never thought of you as a domestic character." Bart laughed rather self-consciously.

"You'd be surprised," said Lora Sackett. "Just watch me churn." She she was just quiet. . . .

Then dinner was over, and Mrs. Lind sipped coffee in the drawing room while Viola went for her wraps. "And call a taxi," she demanded rather pointedly.

"Why fool with a taxi?" asked Bart. "My car's outside, and Thomas not doing a thing. I'll be beating it after a while. Awful job on tomorrow. Just send it back for me, and I'll send it back for you. How's that?" Perhaps he was trying to shorten his evening with Lora, unexpectedly left on his hands.

"That's awfully sweet of you—"

"Don't stand there calling him names, mother," broke in Lora. "Go ahead and mind your boss."

So Mrs. Lind went ahead.

It was nearing eleven; Bart and Lora were still seated on the narrow sofa from which they had not stirred for nearly two hours. Their voices had become dangerously low. Lora's had lost its high, nervous timbre. Again he wondered that she could be still so long. He was quite sober now, he imagined, although he had said some fool things. An idiot in the back of his head kept calling out, "Well, after all. "There must be some other girl in it," she was saying.

"Nerts."

Banquets Are Given Only to the Man Who No Longer Needs Anything to Eat –By Robert Quillen —

In northern Alaska, a regular diet of caribou meat has made the wolves uncommonly large and formidable. When meat is plentiful they co-operate and share their prosperity, but woe to the one that is wounded when meat is scarce.

His need proves his undoing. He may whine for co-operation in his extremity, but his weakness serves only to invite destruction. He is

To be helpless, or to confess the need of help, is always a fatal error among any kind of wolves.

In every community there are old people whose happiness depends on the good will and compassion of their grown children. If they are rich enough to pay for service and have not yet made division of their wealth, they are seldom permitted to be lonely. Their senility is eccentricity and their childishness is quaint. But if they are wholly dependent, their helplessness seems to destroy all compassion. The fact of their need turns pity to indifference. They are nuisances because they are defenseless.

How do you explain it? Is it the cost of feeding the old people that makes the children resentful and thoughtlessly cruel? Surely not, for those who can least afford the burden usually accept it with least complaint.

Observe the way of a man with a maid. While she is independent and unmoved by his pleadings, his longing for her gives him no rest. But once she surrenders and he realizes that love for him has made her helphis ardor promptly cools and he makes plans to be rid of her.

In each mated couple there is one who loves more than the other and the one who loves less is independent and a little overbearing. The other's slavery to love invites tyranny and neglect. Or observe the world's reaction to ill health. Yesterday the man was his prime and asked no favors, and the world lifted its hat in tribute to his independence. Today he seems helpless and the world feels superior and a little scornful. Perhaps you have none of that wolf trait. But to whom would you nore willingly lend a dime—to Henry Ford or to a hungry hobo? The world loves a winner. If you would win its support, you must at any cost conceal the fact that you need it.

Of course it is better not to take a hearty meal just before you enter a hard race or game or attempt any strenuous performance. You'll get on better if you take only a little quick fuel, sugar of one kind or another, to sustain your muscles. But there is no good reason why normal young persons should not go in swimming as soon as they wish after a meal when no strain on endurance is involved. One hundred years ago Beaumou amous American physiologist, pub ished his "Experiments and Observa tions on the Gastric Juice and the Physiology of Digestion"—Beaumont studied Alexis St. Martin, the Canadian with a trapdoor in his ston ach, the result of a gun shot—and among other things Beaumont found that "gentle exercise facilitates the digestion of food." Gentle exercise, mind. Something like a stroll after dinner. Severe exercise, modern physiologists have found, delays digestion.

Tests made on normal young men who ran from one to four miles immediately of the the control of the con

St. Patrick's Day in the morning—23 years ago.

The Jones boy—called Bobby—had won the junior championship at East Lake at the age of eight.

When St. Patrick's Day of 1916 came around it was followed shortly afterward by the Jones boy qualifying for the amateur at Philadelphia and winning two hard matches.

St. Patrick's Day 11 years ago-and that following

St. Patrick's Day 11 years ago—and that following summer saw him win the national amateur medal and lose in the semi-final. He was fifth in the open.

The next year saw him go abroad with the Walker cup team. The following year saw him finish in a tie for second place in the open.

St. Patrick's Day ten years ago—it seems more than that—but it was the summer after that birthday that saw Bobby Jones finally break through and win the national open.

They followed quickly then. The young man who was born on St. Patrick's Day, 1902, began sweeping the golf titles as he went, dominating the game as no one else ever had before; smashing records of 40 years' standing; firing the shots heard 'round the world.

And finally came St. Patrick's Day of 1930. The boy who had won the club championship at the age of eight was then 28.

St. Patrick's Day 11 years ago—at the open.

Max himself, as keen a base runner as the National league ever knew, crisp, decisive and a man of discipline, will estimate for you the extent of the upswing to the very degree as he starts his section of the very degree as he starts his section eight was then 28.

And that year he captained the Walker cup team to victory in Great Britain, and then won, in succession, the British amateur, British open, the United States open and amateur in a record-breaking clean sweep.

Three years later-in retirement-he is still the only great champion who never suffered a loss of personal popularity; is still the only great champion who retains all the old loyalty and regard. He deserves it, of course. It was no accident that he was selected as the greatest competitor in all sport by a vote of sports

St. Patrick's Day in the morning-1902—the one we like to celebrate.

BASEBALL WITHOUT TEARS.

It seems that the Crackers are now being discussed in the barber shops, the sandwich shops, the cigar shops and in the drug stores. And that is a very encouraging sign. Because if baseball is not talked in those spots there will be no one sitting at the ball park watching the athletes perform.

Because it is the average human being who attends the ball games. And you will find the average human beings around the barber shops, the sandwich shops, the cigar shops and the drug stores. That is the average human being will be in the majority in those spots.

There is just one quarrel with Mr. Christopher Morley's delightful book, "Human Being." He did not have his hero go out to see the Giants or the Indians or the Red Sox or Braves play ball. And he was in the cities supporting those clubs. The average human being may not play golf but he certainly goes to ball games.

The baseball fans, or the average human beings, in Atlanta, became very, very sour on baseball during the past eight years in Atlanta. The face of the baseball fan began growing sorrowful after the 1925 season. It became so acidulous as the years went on that by 1932 the average fan would bust right out and cry if the Crackers or baseball were mentioned.

There were any number of fans who took a solemn oath never to go out and see another baseball game until a new deal was had. This involved a great deal of suffering because the fan in the early rounds of the national likes his baseball. It seems that the Cracker camp is coming along. The indications are that a very smart ball club is going to be evolved at Mobile. In fact, as soon as Charley Moore gets another pitcher or so, the Crackers will look, very much like a first division outfit.

At any rate, the fans are talking about the Crackers. Their faces are loosening up. It is already possible to mention base-ball without having the fans bust out crying.

THE "B" POSITION.

With the recalcitrant Arthur Weis on his way to the Cracker camp, the last of the holdout troubles seems at hand.

It will now become the task of Manager Charley Moore to decide on his "B" and "A" players. He can use two "A" men in the outfield, and still keep Freddie Sington and Duck McKee, the "B" outfielders. There must be a utility man.

Mr. Moore need not pay a great deal of attention to these selections. But his outfield is likely to consist of Sington, Mc-Kee, Joe Bonowoitz and Art Weis.

His infield will very likely include Pete Susko at first, Rudy Laskowski at second, Buster Chatham at short and Red Rollings at third. Laskowski is the "B' man in that list.

The pitching staff should not include more than two "B" men, which would bring the total to five. And the assistant receiver a "B" man, will bring the total to the required six.

This does not seem very difficult. I am surprised that it should appear so difficult to Mr. Moore. Surely he knows his A B C's. (It is surprising how quickly these things can be solved once one really goes to work.) Even if Mr. Moore does not agree it is still a nice job of A-B-C-ing. And that ball club would, provided the pitching staff is bolstered a bit-Kleinhans would be a great help-will go places in the first division. The minute Kleinhans reports you may select the Crackers as one of the four best teams in the league, the other three being New Orleans, Nashville and Chat-

What will be done about Wally Dashiell, Red Barron and others? Really, maybe we had better let Manager Moore do this A-B-C-ing after all. There are so many angles.

THIS HOARDING.

He was looking at his goldfish pool and cussing the administration. It sounded very strange indeed, with the administration zipping through reforms and beer, to hear someone speaking ill of the administration at Washington.

"Surely," said his friend, "surely you do not object to the bank holiday which saved most of the

"No," said his friend, "I do not."

"And surely you do not object to the beer bill?" "I do not," he said. "But," he continued, "I do object to this hoarding law. It has ruined my goldfish. Look at them," he said piteously. "They are shedding all their gold. They are scared to death. When it gets so a goldfish won't keep his gold then things have gone too far." And so he resumed cussing the administration. He is very, very fond of his goldfish pool, which he made himself to decorate his wife's rock garden.

Medals for Winners

Winners in The Constitution's championship duckpin tournament, which starts tonight at Blick's bowling center, will wear gold medals like those shown above. The tournament, the largest ever staged in the south, will close Saturday night. Some 40 teams will compete. Pretty Miss Florence Young is holding the gold medals.

Pat Moulton in the ninth and swift running on a pair of infield outs won the game after McCarter and Abelman, of the Yannigan infield, had pulled a flashy double play. Barron finally got Bob Hasty, the camp's lucky man, on his side and the result was his team's first win in the inter-camp tussles. Wally Dashiell played his first game at second for the regulars and fielded superbly. Rudy Laskowski, at third for the Yannigans, pulled off two dazzling fielding plays in succession in the sixth to rob Sington and Rollings of base nits. The term "inflation" is not widely understood. In one way it may mean the abandonment of the gold standard with a managed currency and a consequent rise in peices in terms of the currency. It may also mean the debasement of the currency through the reduction of the gold content of the dollar and the circulation of unsecured paper money. Most economic restricts $1,000. Actually, there is no more money in circulation than there was before."

"The effect of the new currency in dayancing prices," says the Standard Statistics Company, "will come about rather through its stimulus for business recovery than through any stimulus certain the circulation of unsecured paper money. emergency measures enforced to limit price fluctuations to an extreme of 5 cents either up or down from the latest previous day's finish. The emergency measures, which will be removed after the close tomorrow, were intended to prevent possible undue wildness of the markets.

OPINIONS ON STOCKS.

DOBBS & CO.—Whether the recession before the close Thursday could be considered a sufficient technical reaction or not is doubtful, and a further advance would almost be sure to bring profit-taking before the week-end The economy bill alone provides more real for the past year.

COURTS & CO.—While we cannot expect the market to go up materially every day, there is a new momentum on the up side and we think it only reasonable to expect a further advance in the market.

By VICTOR EUBANKS. NEW YORK, March 16.—(AP)— Profit-taking barriers failed to stop he speeding bond market today aud Profit-taking barriers failed to stop the speeding bond market today and further gains ranging from 1 to 6 or more points were recorded by most listed loan categories.

United States government issues again showed the way to higher levels with advances of fractions to around 2 points, although they, like a number of corporate bonds, failed to hold their best quotations of the day. The utilities, industrials and rails ran a neck-and-neck race and were all even at the finish. The foreign section was somewhat irregular. The trading volume was expanded quite sharply over yesterday's aggregate, sales totaling $14.953,000, par value. The average for 60 domestic corporate loans advanced 1.7 points. The renewed cheerfulness of traders and investors apparently reflected growing confidence in federal financing plans, the passage of the administration's economy bill and prospects that easier money conditions would follow the rush of hoarded funds back to the rejuvenated banks of the uation.

Reliable reports from Chicago state there was an accumulation of buying orders for about 10,000,000 bushels of wheat which could not be executed to-day because of scant offerings and a refusal on the part of holders to take less than the high price registered with the advance of 5 cents.

NEW YORK March 3.15n; May 3.25; July 3.34n; September 3.42b, 3.65 and 5.60 amounting to $117,850,000, were the smallest since 1919, said the annual statement of the company, issued today. In 1931 sales amounted to $222,956,000.

On the year's operations the company sustained a ret loss of $12,265,972 compared with net income of $10,816,387 in 1931.

or wheat and an unusually sharp rise in cotton prices.

Greater appreciation in the price of wheat probably would have occurred except that there were restrictions on price fluctuations of 5 cents a bushel in either direction.

Reliable reports from Chicago state there was an accumulation of business.

Capital Agog as 'Meggie' Is Aired

Washington is still agog over the sight of Mrs. Franklin D. Roose velt strolling each morning from the White House with no other com-panion than her dog "Meggie." The capital is not used to such simple omestic rituals on the part of the "first lady."

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

BY ELY CULBERTSON. World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

Preferring a Shorter Trump Suit

Most people who play much Contract have discovered the fact that there are many hands in which a 4-4 distribution of the trump suit is much more effective than to have a much longer suit, even of six-card length, designated as trump. The reason for this is apparent as soon as it is stated. A long, established side-suit permits the discard of losers in other suits, while no discards can be taken on the trump suit.

Perhaps, because of reading some of my articles illustrating this principle, two members of my staff, in a Du plicate game recently, reached and made a Grand Slam in spades, while other players elected to play for a Grand Slam in clubs because of the honor holding. They found this con-tract impossible to make. The holders of the North and South hands were Miss Marie Brady (North) and Mr. William B. Tower Jr. (South). The hand was:

North. Dealer. North-South vulnerable.

The bidding: (Figures afte bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

7 (5) Pass

1—The hand justifies only a single Raise of the club bid.

2—It is unusual to find a hand which instifies a Raise of one of part we have the hitting power that will get its share of runs. If our pitching holds up, as I hope it will, I feel ing holds up, as I hope it will, I feel any team, and there is the break of sure that we will be in the picture on in all strength.

South would not have made a jump to game. The four notrump bid is, of course, a Forcing bid, as North visualizes the strong possibility of at least a Small Slam. In any event, the contract of five spades, which might be undertaken, appears entirely safe.

South discloses possession of two Aces.

-The bid of seven is based upon an appreciation of the fact that A Hard Race. there is no occasion to worry about the trump situation and South has already shown support for clubs. Hence, this strong suit in the Declarer's hand should turnish discards for losers in hearts and diamonds.

In the play of the hand the adverse trumps broke 3-2 and the contract was made without difficulty. FRIENDLY COUNSEL BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution,

A correspondent writes that she A correspondent writes that she cannot "get along with people" and she wonders if it is possible to be happy and contented in life when this is the case. Of course she is not happy or she wouldn't have written the letter. Perhaps she is rightly suspicious that her discontent grows out of this inability to sustain smooth and amicable relationships with the people about her. After all, life resolves itself into human relationships. From the day the baby chens his eyes From the day the baby opens his eyes on a strange world to the day when, as an old man, he closes his eyes on a familiar world he is dependent upon a familiar world he is dependent upon people. The character of this dependence may change, indeed it does, but it is always dependence. In babyhood for bodily care, for food and clothes; in youth for guidance and financial support and preparation for life; in maturity for work and love and friendship and pleasant intercourse with those about one; in age again for bodily care and food and clothes, but always for one thing or another. The human being is deanother. The human being is de

We are all bound up in the same bundle of life. No man lives to bimself or dies to himself. Unless we can strike the hand of friend-ship with those about us, unless we love and are loved by those about us, their very proximity to us is a constant source of irritation and approvance.

A selfish person never considers anybody but himself. Other people are rated by the selfish individual, according to the advantages that may accrue to the selfish one from association with them. No law of love or friendship is counted binding when it cuts athwart the aims and ambitions of the selfish man's nature. If you have ever tried friendship with an inordinately selfish person you 'now what a hopeless task it is. Everything you do and say is measured by the standard that selfishness sets up. Every gift you make of time and interest and affection, and even of material substance, is valued not according to what you have to give, not in proportion to your ability to give, but by the standard of what the selfish one desires and thinks he deserves. You can't come up to what is expected of you for his idea; of his own worth are so exaggrated, so magnified in his own eyes that there is no chance for you so see him as he sees himself. After repeated attempts, all unsuccessful, to meet his demands you come to the realization of the truth and bestow your affection on somebody else.

The second trait is a censorious and The second trait is a censorious and critical spirit that knows no tolerance. And, oh, how a critical person can lacerate and humiliate his associates! We seldom remember when under the lash of criticism, that it may be, in reality, an expression of the critic's inner character rather than a true actimate of his estimate of us.

To get along amicably with other people we have to consider them as well as ourselves. We have to learn what the psychologists call mind-transplanting to be able to put ourselves in another's place and deal tolerantly with another's weakness, even when we do not share it.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 16—(UP) William P. "Hiker" Jay, who was as sixtant coach at Fordham for the past six years, today was appointed head football coach at Canisus College. He succeeds Mike Traynor, who took the post in midseason last year after Eugene Oberst, former Notre Dame star, resigned.

THE PENNANT CHASERS. LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 16.—No one knows better than Bill Terry and his Giants that they will have the fight of their lives in the National league scramble this season. In the first place, the giants have been pretty well tangled up in pennant tradition for the last twenty-five years. During this stretch McGraw has stepped away with ten pennants, which is still the record, with Connie Mack one flag behind. Bill Terry also remembers that just a year ago the Giants left Los Angeles with high hopes of a big season. They looked to be better advanced than either the Cubs or Pirates.

When the season opened there was an astounding collapse along all fronts. The fast, snappy looking team of late March seemed to be slow and listless after the April opening, and promise in pitching went to seed quickly. is still another cloud on the Giant horizon. There are so

When I saw Max Carey, in Miami, he was sure that his Brooklyn Dodgers would also be up with the elect.

Both the Cubs and Pirates are certainty goes, Hubbell and Fitzsimmons are now ready to go the route. I hope to get at least three more dependable pitchers by the middle of April, but it is a little early yet to say just how this hope will be worked out.
